

repeal the amazon tax

www.RepealTheAmazonTax.com

Colorado is killing its own businesses with unfair, onerous taxes...yet again.

The Colorado legislature and governor recently passed a terrible new tax law (HB 1193). The law saddles out-of-state online retailers and their customers with a crazy patchwork of state and local taxes, plus a costly mess of red tape and stiff penalties for non-compliance. However, Colorado can only tax out-of-state companies if those companies have some kind of presence in Colorado. To avoid this unfair tax burden, Amazon terminated the accounts of its Colorado "Associates," i.e. the people who earn commissions by advertising Amazon products on their blogs and web sites. At least one other business has done likewise.

Amazon warned the Colorado Democrats that this would happen... but they passed the law anyway.

Right now, the left is frantically blaming Amazon. Yet Amazon is the primary victim of the law: they'll lose more revenue than any single affiliate. Amazon did not act capriciously: it was forced to defend itself by the heedless tax-and-spend Colorado legislature and governor.

Once again, the statist blame business for the sins of government.

For more information on the battle against the "Amazon Tax," visit www.RepealTheAmazonTax.com.

To keep informed, subscribe to the low-volume e-mail list "NoAmazonTax."

Please speak up against the "Amazon Tax"! Spread the word about this law and its effects on Colorado. You can make a difference!

repeal the amazon tax

www.RepealTheAmazonTax.com

Colorado is killing its own businesses with unfair, onerous taxes...yet again.

The Colorado legislature and governor recently passed a terrible new tax law (HB 1193). The law saddles out-of-state online retailers and their customers with a crazy patchwork of state and local taxes, plus a costly mess of red tape and stiff penalties for non-compliance. However, Colorado can only tax out-of-state companies if those companies have some kind of presence in Colorado. To avoid this unfair tax burden, Amazon terminated the accounts of its Colorado "Associates," i.e. the people who earn commissions by advertising Amazon products on their blogs and web sites. At least one other business has done likewise.

Amazon warned the Colorado Democrats that this would happen... but they passed the law anyway.

Right now, the left is frantically blaming Amazon. Yet Amazon is the primary victim of the law: they'll lose more revenue than any single affiliate. Amazon did not act capriciously: it was forced to defend itself by the heedless tax-and-spend Colorado legislature and governor.

Once again, the statist blame business for the sins of government.

For more information on the battle against the "Amazon Tax," visit www.RepealTheAmazonTax.com.

To keep informed, subscribe to the low-volume e-mail list "NoAmazonTax."

Please speak up against the "Amazon Tax"! Spread the word about this law and its effects on Colorado. You can make a difference!